

Grayling State Bank Aids Calilee To Grayling Walk

(By Richard Latimer)

Jack Alef, President of Grayling State Bank, announced today that area residents wanting to take part in any of several ways may sign up and obtain information sheets on the Walk in the lobby of the bank.

The Walk will be held during Holy Week, April 8 to 12 and will culminate with Good Friday Services at Michaelson Memorial United Methodist Church. Townspeople are invited to join the walkers at the edge of town near the Holiday Inn at noon when work is let out and walk the final few blocks to the Church for the services to which the entire Community is invited.

People wishing to take a more active part in the Walk may do one or more of several things:

1. Walk for part or all of the way. Walkers will walk no longer than an hour at a time, then rest for two, out of each day. The continuity of the Walk will be maintained by teams of walkers according to Reverend Paul Frederick.
2. Adults unable or unwilling to actually walk are needed as drivers to follow and escort the walkers in vehicles. Arrangements are being made for a mobile Walk Van in which walkers may rest. Adults may volunteer for one day or for the entire length of the Walk.
3. The group will spend each night in a cooperating church along the way and Adults are needed to serve as Advisors each night.
4. The fourth way people in the community can help is to offer their prayers for the successful completion of the Walk and to re-dedicate their lives to the things that the young preacher from Calilee taught his followers, especially that message dealing with our relationship to our friends, family and neighbors - "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you."
5. Retired people in the community and senior citizens may either serve as driver escorts during the Walk or as volunteer baby-sitters for people with small children who would like to take part for a day. Contact Lora Gould if interested.

The Michigan State Police have been notified of the Walk and the route and have pledged their cooperation in any way necessary. The walkers will carry a Crown of Thorns from Galilee, Holy Water from the River Jordan in which Jesus was Baptized and a full-sized cross made in Grayling.

In commenting on the Walk, New Life Chairman Neil Byce noted "It is unimportant to us whether we have 5 or 500 people participate in the Walk. This is up to the individual not only in Grayling but also to the thousands along the route that we have invited to join us. Each of us must search our hearts and decide if we are happy with ourselves and satisfied with the way our lives are going or if we feel the need to make a new start in life. To make a commitment to God to begin again and to try to live according to his teachings. If even only one person completes the Walk it will have been a success for we will have drawn the attention of everyone in the Nation to the Carpenter's message and to the suffering he underwent in Holy Week for us."

Area residents may sign up at the Grayling State Bank or call 348-3471 for more information.

Kirtland Community College Foundation Conducts Survey

The Board of Directors of the Kirtland Community College Foundation has requested that a survey be conducted to gather information that will assist the foundation in helping individuals attend college.

William P. Jennings, Chairman of the Board of Directors, said, "What we are trying to do is find out who needs help to attend Kirtland, and try to provide that help, financial or otherwise."

The specific purpose of the survey is to identify those who would like to attend Kirtland; but for some reason find it difficult to attend. John H. Alef, member of the Foundation Board, commented, "I certainly hope that we have a good return on the survey. All information about the individual will be held in strict confidence."

The Internal Revenue Service has declared the foundation a non-profit corporation as such it can solicit and receive tax deductible gifts and hold, administer manage, use and distribute these gifts for the benefit of the college and its community.

The foundation encourages gifts, large and small including money, book, equipment and other needed material which may result in tax advantages for the donor.

Bear Mountain Closed

Horace D. Hodge, newly appointed receiver for Bear Mountain has closed down the resort, due the lack of business.

Hodge stated in a release in the Bay City Times last week, that the resort showed a loss of $55,000 at the end of the ski season.

He has asked for instructions from Federal Judge Stephen J. Roth, and has suggested several alternate moves, including bankruptcy, the release stated.

A hearing has been set for April 2 at 10:30 a.m. before Judge Roth in federal court in Bay City to determine what to do with Bear Mountain.

Hodge also suggested the possibility of turning over the resort to the federal government, which already has an investment of $1.1 million, or having the state and federal governments pay the losses and keep the resort open.

The bromides at Bear Mountain continue, with but little hope of solution until the courts decide the many legal tangles surrounding the Mountain.

Depositions of the owners of various concessions and other defendants in a federal court suit brought by the state are being taken this week at building 11 at Camp Grayling.

The birth of streaking

By Jim Fitzgerald

Streaking had to happen. I was explaining this to my daughter when out of the mouth of that babe came an ultimate wisdom which finally explains why I never want to take a bath.

College boys and girls are currently running around naked in public. This is called "streaking." Sociologists and historians shrug and say it's just another seasonal fad. Their grandparents swallowed goldfish in the spring and their parents raided panties. So forget it; this too shall pass.

I don't believe it. There is more to streaking than young people simply celebrating the end of winter. Streaking is the final product of a civilization that is washing itself to death.

This nation is saturated with advertising that guarantees you romantic fulfillment and business success if you bathe with the right soap everyday. And if you don't, your stench will offend people for miles around and the bank will reject your loan application.

Everybody knows the wet-head is dead. The wet-head man must wear his hair long and fluffy. It won't fluff unless it is shampooed everyday. If you are going to wash your hair, you might as well take a shower. You can hurt your back crawling under the faucet in the kitchen sink.

Our culture demands so many baths it is hardly worth getting dressed anymore. Naked people are continually running from the bathroom to the bedroom or to the phone or to the door. It is hardly surprising that some youngsters have run a few steps

It all began, obviously, as Joe College finished his evening shower. He suddenly remembered he'd forgotten to return a book to the library. So he unconsciously ran to the library the same way he'd run down the dormitory hall to the Coke machine.

Thus was streaking born. Given the exceedingly soapy circumstances, it was inevitable. Men quit wearing hats because they tired of tipping them to women, removing them in elevators, and running from hat check girls. People are quitting clothes because they are tired of taking them off to bathe every time a guy on TV says he smells something.

I have never been much for bathing. I went out for all sports in high school so I could tell my mother I showered in school and tell my teammates I showered at home. Later I joined the country club.

I tried to tell my daughter why: "I hate getting all wet because it only means I have to dry myself off which seems like a waste of time. After all, if I wanted to be dry I shouldn't have gotten wet in the first place. A man should get all wet only by accident, like falling in the punch bowl."

"I used to feel that way when I was little," my 17-year-old kid answered, "but I grew out of it long ago."

I think that sassy girl told her father he has never grown up. If I were a shower fan, I'd probably become the first person to have a stroke while streaking.

CMU Unveils Plans to Bring Public TV To Northern Michigan

At a luncheon in Gaylord, Michigan University unveiled plans Tuesday (March 26) to extend public television to 24 northern lower Michigan counties that are currently unable to receive public television signals.

At a luncheon in Gaylord, CMU President William B. Boyd and other University officials said the University plans to construct a 1,349 foot tower and transmitter nine miles north of Atlanta in Montmorency County, hopefully by the end of 1974.

The tower, to be the tallest in Michigan, and transmitter would beam full-color public television to the 24-county area from main studios on the CMU campus, from which the University now operates WCMT-TV (Channel 14).

The new northern Michigan channel would operate with the call letters WCMT-TV (Channel 6). The satellite station would telecast about 125 hours of programming a week to a potential audience of some 300,000 people, about 60,000 of whom are elementary and secondary school students.

Also launched at Tuesday's luncheon was a $250,000 fund-raising campaign, necessary to put Channel 6 on the air. President Boyd explained that the funds are necessary to supplement a $341,437 grant from the Department of Health Education and Welfare.

Channel 6 will cover a radius of about 80 miles, reaching to Traverse City on the west, to Gladwin on the south, just beyond the Straits of Mackinac on the north and beyond the shores of Lake Huron to the east. The new channel would bring to northern Michigan for the first time such educational shows as "Sesame Street," "Electric Company," "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood," and "Zoom."

In addition, Channel 6 will broadcast commercial-free of other public affairs and cultural programming such as William F. Buckley, Jr.'s "Firing Line," "Masterpiece Theatre," and "Book Beat." It will also include about 12 hours of regional and local programming a week and bring some CMU credit classes into northern Michigan living rooms.

The fund-raising campaign, to be conducted mainly in the area to be served by Channel 6, will be conducted through volunteer efforts of northern Michigan citizens.

Social Security, Uncertain

To use a phrase common in the vernacular of the younger generation—social security is a bummer. If you happen to be among those who are already collecting their social security benefits, or if you expect to be soon, you could be among the last people in the country who will get out of the system anything like a good return on the dollars they have put into it. The outlook for young workers in their 20's and 30's is particularly uncertain.

In the first place, as everyone knows, social security is not a retirement insurance program which delivers certain known benefits after a stated period of time according to the premiums paid. It is rather a system of national welfare intended to put a floor under the income of retired or disabled workingmen and women. Congress passed legislation establishing the social security program in 1937. At that time, the maximum amount of taxable income subject to the social security tax was $3,000. Last December, Congress raised social security benefits by another 11 percent for 1974 and increased the taxable wage from $12,000 to $13,200. The taxable wage level is scheduled for a further rapid rise. If the system gets into trouble, there is nothing to prevent Congress from someday passing legislation which reduces or eliminates social security payments or raises age limitations as necessary to bring the outflow of benefits back down to a level that can be covered by available funds. In other words, what Congress gives, it can also take away.

Another uncertainty arises since the social security system is tied to the presumption that the process of inflation will go on forever at a predictable rate. The law provides that benefits will be raised automatically to keep pace with the cost of living. For the time being, the rate of the tax is to be held the same, but the amount of income subject to it will constantly rise to pay for higher benefits. In this way, the higher-paid employees and the most productive farmers and other self-employed professional and business people will pick up the tab for ever-rising social security payments to those who are no longer working. In just four years, annual benefit payments, assuming no special additional increases are authorized by Congress, will rise from around $53 billion in 1973 to nearly $84 billion in 1978. That will necessitate a pretty healthy boost in taxes that someone is going to have to pay.

Dr. Robert J. Myers, who retired after 23 years of service as the social security system's chief actuary, expresses the fear that the program will not be able to pay for itself. He points out that under the present escalator formula it is assumed that the cost of living will go up 2.75 percent a year with the same increase in benefits following, and that there will be a 5 percent annual increase in wages subject to the tax to cover this increase. But what happens if general price levels rise much faster than projected, as they now are, and wages subject to the social security tax do not keep pace? If there were to be a business slowdown at the same time that there was price inflation, this is precisely what could happen. With the energy shortage, continued government manipulation of the economy and interference in both supply and price of goods and services, the nation seems to be moving closer to this kind of situation. As an article in BARRON'S, National Business & Financial Weekly points out, "Congress seems to believe that by repeatedly increasing social security benefits, in order to help offset the impact of inflation, it is showing genuine concern for those living on fixed incomes. What it is really doing, however, is accelerating the upward spiral of wages and prices, undermining the financial soundness of the social security system, aggravating long-standing inequities and placing a crushing burden on young workers."

Social security may turn out to be a social tragedy. The system is geared to the politics of election years. It will become increasingly burdensome to young workers and those who are presumably the most productive and earning higher levels of salary or income. Its benefits cannot be foreseen or projected since they are tied to the unpredictable direction of congressional political winds and to the progress of inflation. As things now stand, the social security system cannot meet its obligations unless wages subject to the tax continue to rise at a more rapid rate than the cost of living.

The retirement security of present-day workers would be immensely greater if the money paid into the social security system were instead paid into bona fide insurance annuity programs guaranteeing, on an actuarial basis, certain levels of retirement income in return for a specified number of premium dollars. If such a system were handled through the nation's private insurance industry, under a federally regulated program, the funds would be available for investment in job-producing private enterprise that would pay taxes and help produce the myriad goods and services that people need. This is not going to happen—but what a boon to the economic freedom and productivity of the nation it would be!

As it now stands, and particularly considering the direction in which it is going, the nation's social security system provides one more example of the folly of turning the economic affairs of the people over to government. It can set the rules and maintain order in the nation under law, but when it comes to managing money or productive enterprise, government has, since time immemorial, proven itself to be a disastrously poor performer.

On Capital Punishment

Due to the increased violence and lawlessness within our society, there is an added effort to restore Capital Punishment. Since the Supreme Court almost killed Capital Punishment, there have been 21 states enact new death penalty legislation to meet the court standards. Even the President and Congress are discussing new federal laws to restore the death penalty for certain crimes. With this shift in thinking has come increased controversy and even hot dispute over the legal and moral aspects of such action.

Due to space limitation, we shall limit our study to God's penalty for murder under the Noahic Covenant of Genesis 9:1-17. The fifth point reads: "And surely your blood of your lives will I require; at the hand of every beast will I require it, and at the hand of man; at the hand of every man's brother will I require the life of man, whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed: for in the image of God made he man." Gen. 9:3,5.

First, God did not just permit the death penalty for murder, he commanded it.

Second, God commanded that the death penalty be executed by man.

Third, the reason for the death penalty is not the worth of man, but the image of God in man. To murder another human being is a sin against God and His image in man. Man is not an evolved animal, but a special being created in the image of God.

Now to see if this covenant is still in effect today, let us examine the other six points in the covenant.

1. The promise of Genesis 9:1 was God's blessing upon Noah and his sons to multiply and replenish the earth. Has this blessing of procreation continued. Yes, the world population is growing rapidly.

2. The promise of Genesis 9:2 was the fear and dread of man placed upon the animal kingdom. Do birds, fish, and land animals still fear man? Yes.

3. The promise of Genesis 9:3 was the provision of all animals to be food for mankind. Man could not eat meat before this covenant. Can we still eat meat today? Yes.

4. The command of Genesis 9:4 is to prohibit the eating of blood. Does God still prohibit the eating of blood? Yes. Read Acts 15:28,29 concerning instruction given to the Gentile churches. (This has nothing to do with blood transfusions. To eat blood is to show disrespect for the life of the flesh which comes from God. A blood transfusion is a noble act whereby one person shares the life of his flesh to meet the needs of another human being.)

5. The promise of Genesis 9:8-11 assures us that God will never again destroy the world by a universal flood. Has God kept His promise? Yes.

6. The promise of Genesis 9:12-17 is a rainbow given to perpetual generations as a token of this covenant between God and the earth. Do we still substitute; to die our eternal death.

According to Romans 13:3,4 God has still delegated authority to human government to exercise Capital Punishment for evil works.

For more detailed support of this position, drop me a card or stop by the church office and pick up a paper on the subject.
Pastor Barnett

The Old Timer

"A politician is a fellow who never met a tax he didn't hike."

Call us up and ask for Mr. Altogether!

You've probably seen or heard the man in our commercials say, "Coverages don't overlap too often, but even once is too often — why pay twice for anything?" And you perhaps remember the lady who agrees that "we should buy it all together from one agent — that's one way we could save a little!" As a result, we've had a lot of phone calls asking if there really is a Mr. Altogether who would handle both personal and business insurance for them. If you have the same question, why not give us a call and ask for Mr. Altogether?

It's better altogether

Volunteer Aid Program

"Help Me Read"

The title of last week's Volunteer Aid Program article should have read "Parental Involvement In Title I" instead of "Mental Involvement In Title I" as was printed. As I re-read the article the error seemed amusing. However, the more I thought about it this week the more I realized how much truth the error spoke. I wonder how

Pet Chatter

[by Teri Andrews]

Here are some general rules for training dogs:

1. Don't scold an animal ten minutes after he's made a mistake. He'll think he's being scolded for just standing there.
2. If your patience runs thin and you do hit your dog, use a newspaper not your hand. Once a dog is "hand-shy" he's just about impossible to train.
3. Never call a dog to you to be punished. Do this once or twice and he won't come at all.
4. Sticking a dog's nose in his stool or urine will accomplish nothing, patience will.
5. Never let your dog jump on you. A gentle knee in the tummy every time he jumps will break him of this habit.
6. A dog, especially a puppy, can be easily distracted. Never try to give a lesson in a noisy place or with other people or animals around.
7. For obedience training (more on this next week), you should have a metal-line choke collar and a long lead.
8. Use the same words in the same tone each time you praise or scold your pet. It doesn't matter what words you use just be consistent.
9. Always praise a dog when he has done well, and scold him when he hasn't. Also keep in mind the three worst trainer faults I wrote about two weeks ago. Reward and punishment (or praise and disapproval) are the fundamentals of successful animal training.

many of us are JUST "Mentally Involved?"

Our Volunteer Aid Program is entering its seventh month-participation has been encouraging and students receiving help by our volunteers have shown definite improvement! It is doubtful however, that our goal of "one aid per child" will be reached this year. It is also a fact that our program can not give extra help to every child that has need. For this to be accomplished we would need twice as many volunteers!!!

If you have been "mentally involved" in the Volunteer Aid Program-keeping informed by reading the articles in the Avalanche and listening to the public service announcements on WGRY Radio Station-always intending to become "Actively Involved" please do so today!

For more information call Irene Pettyjohn at 348-7641, or stop by the Grayling Elementary School.

Editors Mailbox

Letter to the Editor:

The River Country Players wish to take this time to say thank you to the public for making the play "How Green was My Brownie" a success. The cast and the director Bob Prouse, worked hard on meeting the deadlines. We couldn't have done it without the help from many behind the scene people. I'd like to give a special thanks to Mrs. Beryl Konopnicki - our assistant director. Also, I'd like to thank Marcie Hatfield, Terri Troxel, Jackie Kaiser and Pat Dunkley who were life savers on our make-up committee. Pam Williams and Dorothy Weiman were our prompters. Dean Molnar, Brian Hazen, and Dave Loveley who worked hard on the set and lights. Mr. Howard Taylor put in time to help the group in many ways. Also the men at Camp Lehman who did a fantastic job of painting our set. Jeanne Sparks and Val Benfield who sold tickets and Patty Hawkins and Venessa LaMotte and the high school cheerleaders who helped usher. Nancy Cohoon did a fine job on posters and design. Thanks to Vern Gardiner for the use of the moose, and to Dave Frederick from the Homestead House for lending the furniture. Congratulations to you all!

Sandy Kelly, President
River Country Players.

SMALLER THAN FULL-SIZE '74 MERCURY MONTEGO BIGGER THAN SMALL-SIZE

Montego 2-Door Hardtop shown with optional WSW tires.

Here's how you can combine mid-size gas economy with six-passenger comfort.

If a small car is too small and a full-size car is too big, come drive our mid-size Mercury Montego.

It runs on regular gas. And based on our estimate of national average costs, the '74 Montego is designed to reduce scheduled maintenance costs by as much as 22% in 50,000 miles of normal driving when compared to last year's models.

You'll find our Montego roomy and comfortable...with the ease of handling you want in a mid-size car. Its ride is smooth and quiet on an extra-wide stance with the same type of suspension system as our most expensive luxury car. Today, more than ever, our mid-size Mercury Montego makes sense for a whole lot of people. At the sign of the cat.

Try our '74 Montego on for size. It's wearing the right-sized price tag, too. Right now!

See you at the sign of the cat! It's the sign of the times!

your week ahead by DR. A.W. DAMIS

Forecast Period: March 31 to April 6

ARIES Mar. 21 - Apr. 19
According to stellar patterns, many members of your sign have to face a financial emergency. So, keep spending at a minimum for the next two weeks... just in case!

TAURUS Apr. 20 - May 20
Things should go well, exceptionally well. One problem, however. You might face the "crisis of over confidence," incidentally, in one form or another, you'll hit the jackpot.

GEMINI May 21 - June 20
Overtures and trafficking with questionable members of the opposite sex, shows in the charts of many Gemini persons. So, work at staying in bounds.

MOONCHILD June 21 - July 22
It's not often that you step out of character, but this week, you just won't be yourself. Guard against being neglectful of loved ones—your pet, included.

LEO July 23 - Aug. 22
A far off, former partner or associate, wants to offer you a financial proposition. Anyway, it's not a good time to make any major changes.

VIRGO Aug. 23 - Sept. 22
At last! In the general scheme of things, it seems as though your past efforts and performance will be rewarded. One other thing, don't betray an associate's confidence.

LIBRA Sept. 23 - Oct. 22
Your E. S. P. intuition, or whatever seems to be peaking. It might be a good idea to follow your feelings, as far as the opposite sex is concerned.

SCORPIO Oct. 23 - Nov. 21
For most members of your sign, it's mischief on the march. So, it's very possible that you'll become involved in affairs of secret order.

SAGITTARIUS Nov. 22 - Dec. 21
This week, put wishful thinking where it belongs. Don't be led down any garden path by a fast talker who wants to give you the "whole world."

CAPRICORN Dec. 22 - Jan. 19
Sharp, cagey and cunning; that's the terms that best describe most members of your sign. So, put your persuasive power to work, during this week's cosmic cycle.

AQUARIUS Jan. 20 - Feb. 18
Many members under your sign will be given the responsibility of handling someone else's money or personal articles. It's possible, too, that you will be "pinch hitting."

PISCES Feb. 19 - Mar. 20
If someone stresses or insists that they are a friend—beware! Advice? Just try to make it through the week without getting involved in gossip.

My dream is shared by all people, I'm certain. And it is not impossible. Much has already been learned through research. This year I understand over 200,000 Americans will be saved from cancer by earlier detection and treatment.

People chuckle when they see a baby who seems to have the weight of the world on his shoulders. What can he possibly be thinking about that makes him seem so pensive?

His thoughts probably aren't very serious, for babies often strike delightful and comical poses that enliven the family photo album.

But babies grow up and become adults, with real problems and difficult decisions to make.

Don't forget, as your baby matures, to emphasize those things that will enable him to cope with his future. Don't forget love, discipline, understanding—and especially, don't forget the Church!

To Serve You Better

The Alcoholism Information and Counseling Center, located at 702 Peninsular Drive provides the following services:

Consultation by Appointment, Individual Therapy, Group Therapy, Information on Alcoholism, Speaking Engagements by prior appointment.

The first prerequisite in approaching and understanding alcoholism is the formulation of a good factual concept of what alcoholism is. The second prerequisite is the development of a good factual concept of what alcoholism is not. It can be diagnosed accurately. Its course of progression can be predicted. The alcoholic can be treated and rehabilitated successfully. The disease alcoholism can be controlled and prevented. In order to enhance our understanding of alcoholism, to reduce it to its lowest common denominator, and to help in formulating a good workable concept of the problem, the following are listed as guides:

"What Alcoholism Is"

1. Alcoholism is a disease, like diabetes, cancer, or heart disease.
2. The disease can be divided into four distinct phases: contact, prodromal, acute, and chronic.
3. The disease tends to create and magnify social disorganization, emotional disturbance, and physical deterioration.
4. A major symptom of alcoholism is "loss of control" over the amount of alcohol the alcoholic will ingest after any subsequent drinking.
5. The alcoholic may develop a psychological dependence along with a definite physical addiction to alcohol. The physical addiction is the basis for alcoholism.
6. Once the alcoholic becomes sensitive or addicted to alcohol, he remains addicted throughout life.
7. The length of time for the disease to develop varies from person to person.
8. Approximately one out of fifteen drinkers develops the disease alcoholism.
9. A distinguishing characteristic of the alcoholic is his inability to sober up once he starts drinking. He experiences discomfort and pain when the alcohol content in his blood falls below the amount required to produce the effect that he strives to maintain.
10. The alcoholic will experience physical and bio-chemical demands for alcohol periodically after he stops drinking.
11. The first symptom of alcoholism is an increase in the amount of alcohol required to produce the same effect.
12. Denying alcoholism, failing to recognize it, and the lack of acceptance of alcoholism by alcoholics are as much a part of the disease as drinking and getting drunk.

If you or someone close to you is having a problem relating to alcohol, call the Alcoholism Information and Counseling Center, 348-8331.

"What Alcoholism Is Not"

1. It is not an illness like a headache, upset stomach, or just drinking too much.
2. It is not just drinking, getting into fights, causing accidents, getting arrested, cirrhosis of the liver and lack of will power.
3. The disease is not caused by social and emotional problems, nor is it caused by bad nerves or personality aberrations although they might be most apparent.
4. He or She does not have to drink all the time. They may abstain for weeks, months, or years at a time. Loss of control is reactivated only when drinking is started again.
5. Using alcohol to the extent of creating problems in one or more departments of one's life does not always or necessarily indicate alcoholism.
6. Even though the alcoholic may be able to correct his psychological and emotional dependencies, his physical addiction will not permit him to use alcohol without triggering off the compulsive need for alcohol.
7. The individual who develops alcoholism is not born alcoholic any more than people who develop diabetes are born diabetics.
8. There are many heavy drinkers who consume as much or more alcohol than alcoholics, yet they never develop the disease.
9. The non-alcoholic may consume large quantities of alcohol and get drunk frequently, yet sobers up whenever he wishes without the need for continued ingestion of alcohol.
10. The alcoholic does not have to have any type of family, job, financial or emotional problem to experience this flare up.
11. Both social and heavy drinkers do not require more alcohol to produce the same effect, even after years of drinking.
12. Alcoholics give the impression of being super individuals who can "drink or leave it alone" who do not need help, and who resist anyone coming close enough to break down their defenses.
